Why invest in the range?

The opportunity to train is becoming more and more important for the golfer, not least for the younger generation. By making your range more attractive, you increase your potential revenue. Today, not everyone has time to play full rounds but want a good and fun place to go to train. The range has grown in many places from being a place simply for warming up, to now being a fundamental spot for golfers. Golf is consumed in a different way now than 10 years ago.

In the U.S. and Asia, many ranges are entertainment centers, where you combine food & drink with golf games that are connected to digital information and entertainment tools, such as Trackman. We have not got there yet, but one question all facilities should be able to answer is:

What type of facility and experience do you want to give your customer?

Better balls, easier payments and longer opening hours are some of the things that can make your range more profitable!

Satisfied Customers

"We want to give our customers the best training opportunities available. Good range balls are therefore the most important thing for us at our facility. We searched for the following properties: Flight distance like a playing ball, spin like a playing ball, characteristics that allows the ball to perform with all clubs and long durability. The fact that we can logo design them as we want means that we can finance part of the cost of the balls through corporate exposure.

We have found that mix with our supplier, The Bucket Pros ", says Magnus Palm, CEO of World of Golf in Gothenburg - Europe's most modern and well-equipped training center for golf.

The range ball as an advertising space

What other "place" on the golf course gets as much attention as a range ball? It is an excellent advertising space for your partners, new and old. Our range balls can be designed entirely according to your wishes.

One-stop-shop

The Bucket Pros is a one-stop-shop for all range operators who want to equip and develop their golf range. In addition to our consulting services, we offer a variety of carefully selected products. As a customer of The Bucket Pros, you can always trust that you get the right product for the right purpose.

Let's have a dialogue about what is optimal for your particular range. With our own products plus our many partners, we help you find the perfect solution for your particular situation.

Better balls – better experience

The range ball is a big part of the experience for your customer. Being able to see and feel the same thing as you do when you are on the course is important and it attracts more balls being sold - plus an increase in lessons and equipment sales!

At the same time, it is important that the ball retains its properties for a long time. Therefore, we have only chosen range balls with extra long durability that can withstand large amounts of blows without the performance declining.

We have range balls and practice balls for all needs, including 3-piece balls that are perfect for studios and custom fitting, or as range balls for professional competitions.

Personalised printing is included with all orders over 500 dozen (Range Two, 2 piece ball).

You can choose to print on all 4 sides of the ball. This opportunity is perfect for both club and sponsors logos.

Of course, we can help you with design proposals.

Range Two

Our Range Two has become a new standard in many ranges. A 2-piece ball built for professional ranges where the requirement for the experience should resemble a real game ball with everything from 9-iron to the driver. It is a ball with outstanding performance that through its ball flight, length and spin gives players the right feedback on their shots.

The performance life that we guarantee is 900 shots, which is 2-3 times more than the "normal" performance life of a range ball. The experience and longevity will make it easier for you to sell more buckets but at the same time have to change balls less often.

Range One

Range One is our superb 1-piece ball with real Tour properties that gives that wonderfully soft feeling and produces lots of spin with wedges.

Just as you would expect from a range ball from The Bucket Pros, this ball also has outstanding longevity. We guarantee performance for 1,200 shots.

Range One is also available as Range One Short, a ball with reduced length that is 20% shorter compared to regular Range One. Select Short if you need to reduce the maximum shot length on your Range.

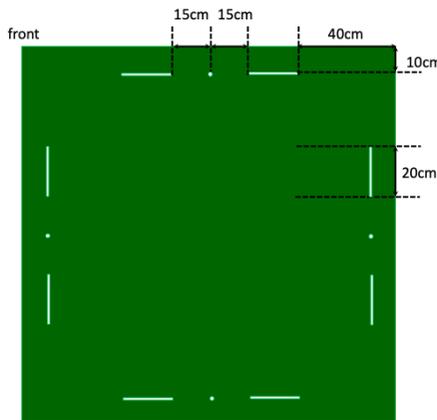

Better mats – better experience

Next to range balls, the mats are an incredibly large part of the experience, and we are not just talking about the ball strike and the feeling. The design of a mat is also important from a health perspective as repeated blows on a low-quality mat can cause injury to the body and especially the wrists. Our signature Rangemat Two Soft therefore has a thicker foam base to give the golfer a better and more gentle experience.

All our mats are constructed using nylon fibre with a melting point of over 230 degrees. It results in a mat with enhanced durability and eliminates the usual problem of the fibres melting and getting stuck to the sole of the club. The glue used is a PU glue that is both strong and environmentally friendly and specific to the regional market we are supplying depending on the climate.

As standard, all mats are 1.5m x 1.5m with 8 slots for tee pegs and 4 holes for rubber pegs.

Rangemat Two Soft

We at The Bucket Pros have a stated goal of changing the status of the range among golfers through a strong focus on new technology, digitization and modern design. Together with Christian Lundin, we can now offer professional help also with the design, renovations and constructions of modern all-weather golf ranges.

Safety nets for Ranges

Safety nets are available in many different qualities.
 Our nets are made in Italy and are of the absolute highest quality.
 The nets are MAINTENANCE-FREE* and ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY / RECYCLABLE.

They are UV-treated, edge-stitched and come in the sizes you need.

THINK OF:

A cheap net provides more maintenance costs on an ongoing basis.
 Since they are mounted at high heights and also awkward to work with, there are great advantages to choosing a maintenance-free net from the beginning.
 We offer total service incl. mounting, wires, winches, posts etc.
